

Animal and Plant Health Agency - Veterinary Lead of the Pig Expert Group

APHA is advertising a permanent position for a vet to lead the Pig Expert Group in the Surveillance Intelligence Unit (SIU). This is a great opportunity to work in a highly motivated and friendly APHA team that delivers scanning surveillance projects, collaborates with a wide range of veterinary and scientific experts, and engages closely with external stakeholders.

The primary aims of the pig scanning surveillance project are detection, investigation and characterisation of new and re-emerging pig-related threats in Great Britain; provision of species-based expertise to APHA and Defra/Welsh/Scottish Government work areas and others; maintenance and development of expertise within and outside APHA; and development of veterinary scanning surveillance and knowledge exchange networks.

The deadline for applying is April 9th 2023. More details are provided here: SD22/01 Veterinary Lead of the Pig Expert Group in the Surveillance Intelligence Unit \(SIU\) - Civil Service Jobs - GOV.UK

If you would like to discuss what the role involves, please contact Susanna Williamson (susanna.williamson@apha.gov.uk) who is the current post holder.
